Calls on His Mother and Says That He Accompanied Fitzpatrick to Maryland -Wore the Undershirt and Had the Purse of the Man He Says Was Killed.

A man who gave his name as Tom Mur-ray went to the home of Mrs. Elizabeth Fitzpatrick, at 220 East Thirty-eighth street, yesterday and told her that her son Matthew, whose body was found on the beach at Pearson, Md., ten days ago, had been murdered. According to the reports from Pearson the body was badly mutilated, but it was thought that Fitzpatrick had committed suicide.

To convince Mrs. Fitzpatrick that he knew her son, Murray showed her a rosary and a pocketbook which had belonged to him. Murray at first didn't want to give them up, but Mrs. Fitzpatrick made him do so. Then he showed her an undershirt that he wore, and Mrs. Fitzpatrick says that her son wore the shirt when he left home.

Mrs. Fitzpatrick got word of her son's death on Thursday in a telegram from Coroner Jarboe of Pearson. The cause of death was not stated. Her son Harry left for Pearson Friday afternoon, but Mrs. Fitzpatrick had heard nothing from him last night.

According to the story told by Murray, he, Fitzpatrick and two other men, named Murphy and Courtney, left this city on Oct. 28 to go to the Maryland oyster beds. They shipped on a boat from the foot of Last Forty-first street, and worked two days in forty-first street, and worked two days in the oyster beds without getting any pay. Then they started to tramp back to New York. When they reached Pearson Mur-ray said that they got permission to sleep in the jail over night, but next morning they found they had been charged with vagrancy. They were discharged by Mr. Jarboe, who is Justice as well as Ceroner.

Murray, who acted as though he had been drinking, said he got back here on Thursday. Courtney arrivedyesterday. Murray said that Courtney had a lot of papers belonging to Fitzpatrick, and that she could get them if she went to the Yorkville police court and bailed him out. Courtney, according to Murray, had been arrested for being drunk.

Murray left the house without saying where he lived, but promised to come back at 4 o'clock. He didn't return. He also said that he "hung out" in a saloon at Twenty-second street and First avenue, but a son of Mrs. Fitzpatrick couldn't find him there or any one who knew him.

After Murray left Mrs. Fitzpatrick telephoned to Inspector McClusky and told him the story. He said he couldn't do anything until some one in Pearson asked him to look into the case.

For some unexplained reason Murray gave to Mrs, Fitzpatrick a slip of paper on which was written: "Dr. Taylor, 35 East Twenty-seventh street; office hours, 6-to 7."

Dr. H. N. Taylor lives at that address. He said last night that he knew neither Fitzpatrick nor Murray.

APPEAL FOR MADRID COLLEGE. at Their First Luncheon.

At the first luncheon of the season of the Mount Holyoke Alumnæ Association, held in the Fifth Avenue Hatel ye terday, Miss Ellen C. Parsons, editor of "Woman's Work for Women," who was the principal speaker, asked support for the American Academy for Women at Madrid. Miss Parson's subject was "The work of Alice Gordon Gulick" who founded the American School in Madrid. Miss Parsons told of the trials of Miss Gulick in establishing a Protestant school in a Catholic country. and said:

in the United States. I mention it because of the action of the Bishop of Rochester last week when he objected to the girls of his diocese attending the State colleges and institutions where Protestant histories, philosophy and science are taught. Now if we have that narrowness and bigotry in Catholicism in the United States, what must a missionary have in Spain, where Catholicism is even more narrow and Miss Parsons said that an effort was being made to enlarge and further the American Academy at Madrid and she asked the aid of all who had a "missionary spirit She said that the academy is deeply in delt and is incurring heavy expense. She said that Spain needs the "American ideal of womanhood to save her." Morrill of Adelphi College said of Lineman and Brakeman Killed.

UTICA, Dec. 5.-Stephen Reynolds, a lineman employed by the Central New York Telephone Company, met death in this city this afternoon by falling from a "trolley seat" which hung from the wires midway between two poles, about thirty feet above ground. Mr. Reynolds reached for a wire and in doing so lost his balance and fell. He struck head first on the ground and was rendered unconscious, dying five and was fendered anconsolus, dying five minutes later. Reynolds recently came to Utica from Richfield Springs. H. V. Smith, aged 30 years, a brakeman on the Central Hudson River railroad, was killed in the local yards of the company to-day. Smith was thrown from the top of a box car and received injuries which caused almost instant death. He leaves a widow and two children in Syracuse.

Defective Sense May Have Caused Virsinia Thornton's Death.

According to a friend of Miss Virginia L. in her bathroom on Friday night, the young woman had had an attack of scarlet fever when she was 12 years old which had affected her sense of smell.

As a result, this friend believes, Miss Thornton was unable to detect the presence in the room of gas, which was flowing from a heater. Coroner Jackson, who investigated the case, said that the death was undoubtedly accidental.

Miss Thornton lived at 22 East Sixteenth street. She came to this city from Lexington, Ky., several years ago. She told one of her friends on Friday that she had just received an order for two miniature paint

Her brother, Col. Robert A. Thornton, will reach this city to-night and take charge of her body.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Dec. 5.—Miss Thornton had worked as a secretary in New York and devoted her spare moments to miniature portrait painting. She was 38 years old and a native of Kentucky. A brother, Robert A. Thornton, is a well known lawyer in Lexington. Miss Thornton left here a number of years ago to accept a place in the State Department. From Washington she went to New York.

W. R. GRACE HAS PNEUMONIA. Both the Ex-Mayor's Lungs Affected-He Caught Cold Dining Out.

Former Mayor William R. Grace is ill with double pneumonia. He caught cold on Thursday night while out at a dinner, and on Friday his physican, Dr. E. L. Keyes, called in Dr. Janeway. It was then found that he had pneumonia, although how serious his case is will not be known until the physicians make another examination, which will probably be to-day.

The disease has developed in both lungs, being considerably more advanced in one than in the other. While his family have been informed that there is no occasion for impediate alarm, on account of Mr. Grace's mediate alarm, on account of Mr. Grace's age—he is 71 years old—naturally a good deal of anxiety is felt. A report that Mr. Grace was also suffering from the effects of a stroke of paralysis was contradicted at his residence, 31 East Seventy-ninth street, last night.

COULDN'T SMELL LEAKING GAS. BOERS TO SETTLE IN MEXICO.

ALREADY MANY ARE LEAVING THE DEVASTATED TRANSVAAL.

Gen. Viljoen Says Conditions There Are Hopeless-Expects to Get Millions of Acres in Northern Mexico-Exhibit of Boer War Seenes at St. Louis Fair.

Special Cable Despatch to THE SUN. LONDON, Dec. 5 .- Gen. Ben Viljoen, the former Boer commander, sailed for New York on the steamship Umbria, for the purpose of completing arrangements for the establishment of a Boer colony in Mexico. He says that he has already secured 85,000 acres and expects to get 2,000,000 more later on in northern Mexico, where the climate closely resembles that of the Transvaal.

Gen. Viljoen gives a discouraging account of the situation of the Boers in South Africa | as quickly as possible. at the present time. He says that it was the policy of the leaders after the war to encourage the burghers to remain in the country in the hope of securing local selfgovernment, but the conditions render it impossible for them to remain longer country has been devastated, and cattle and horse diseases seem to make its immediate recovery impossible. Emigration has already begun, and it was therefore thought best to find a general settlement, instead of permitting the race to become extinct by scattering them in all parts of the globe.

Arrangements have been completed for the reproduction on a large scale, at the St. Louis Exposition next year, of the principal battles of the South African war. An attempt will be made to preserve the absolute historical accuracy of famous engagements. Artists are now painting the scenery for the representation of the South African country. There will be from 700 to 1,000 actual participants on both sides. They will reproduce the scenes of the war. It is expected that Gens. Cronje, Viljoen and other Boer leaders, as well as several British officers, will take part in the production. The bulk of the profits will go to the relief of the Boer

CHOICE LITERARY NIGHTCAPS. Lord Resebery's Suggested Cure for Insomniz Stirs Up Discussion.

Special Cable Despatch to THE SUN LONDON, Dec. 5 .- Lord Rosebery is the most entertaining critic of the schemes of other people. He seldom puts forward one of his own. This week, however, he has definitely recommended that sufferers from insomnia should read "Cockburn of Ormiston's Letters to his Gardener" in bed.

This led to a discussion in the press as to what are the best bed books, and ought people to read abed. One paper consulted physicians, who declare that it is bad for the sight. The damage, says one, his announced intention to proceed cau- is not confined to the eyes-it is bad for the whole body. This authority hints at overstraining of the neck muscles and rheumatism of the shoulders. Another doctor says: "Reading in bed is a disease. The habit is as bad as that of taking drugs." On the other hand, well known people write that they have not suffered from the lifelong practice of this habit. F. T. Bullen declares that his sight is perfect at 48, and he learned everything he knows by reading In reference to what books are the best literary nightcaps the experts give a variety of opinions, but the general agreement is against sensational novels. Bord Rosebery supports Cockburn's letters because they belong to a rare class of books that people could enjoy by the bedside, not as literary opiates, but because they are pleasant and healthy to read and could be broken

The different publishers, booksellers and literary men recommend essays and sermons and Omar Khayyam's innumerable works, but Bernard Quaritch refuses to give any advice that might encourage the dangerous habit, "beyond suggesting that reports of fires caused by the practice might be beneficial reading."

The Outlook recommends that the vicechancellors of Oxford and Cambridge universities heed the indictment that J. H. Turner, the agent general of British Columbia, has brought against a text book which is largely used officially and recommended for Oxford and Cambridge examinations throughout the Empire. The publication especially singled out is the "School Geography Atlas," by the headmaster of New College School, Oxford. The current edition of this book affords such items as this: "The Dominion of Canada is in extent more than 3,000,000 miles, but the greater part consists of frozen wastes and swamps. The Canadian Pacific is said to extend from Montreal to New Westminster." Only four towns' in British Columbia are found worthy of mention. MANILA CARNIVAL FOR TAFT. Governor, in Doge's Costume, Receives Guests at Malacan Palace.

Special Cable Despatch to THE SUN. Manilla, Dec. 5 .- Three thousand persons n gorgeous costumes took part to-day the Venetian carnival at Malacan palace in honor of Gov. Taft, who is about to depart for the United States. They went in launches and floats prepared by the merchants of various towns in the vicinity of Manila, and each town seemed to vie with the other in the matter of display. There were many private gondolas in the procession. When the people disembarked, Gov. Taft, representing a doge, and his wife, in court costume, received the visitors. It was an extraordinary display of the Governor's popularity. Various clubs, including the Army and Navy, and the most prominent citizens will give dinners daily in honor of the Governor up to the time of his departure.

KEEP OUT WOMEN LAWYERS. Chivairous Englishmen Could Not Fight in Court Against Such Adversaries.

Special Cable Despatch to THE SUN. LONDON, Dec. 5.-The decision of the Lord Chancellor and the five Judges in refusing the admission of a woman to the bar has received the unqualified approval of the legal press. The Law Journal declares that such an innovation would hinder the administration of justice. It continues: When we consider the zeal, emulation and acrimony in cases conducted and how keen and close and personal is the struggle they involve, the change in the direction of a lady barrister is greatly to be deprecated. Introduce a charming woman on the scene, and what man with the ordinary instincts of chivalry but must lower his lance before such an adversary, must feel himself at a disadvantage, disarmed and shorn of half his fighting strength."

FLOWERS IN ELLESMERE LAND. Prof. Schel Saw Whole Meadows of Them in His Last Arctic Trip.

Special Cable Despatch to THE SUN LONDON, Dec. 5 .- Prof. Schei, the geologist, who accompanied the recent Sverdrup expedition, has written an interesting paper for the Christiania Geographical Society about the vegetation which was found in Ellesmere Land in the Arctic regions.

It appears from the paper that there are whole meadows full of Arctic flowers and there are so-called bird mountains, which might almost be described as botanical gardens. A slope discovered over one bay was completely covered with a violet colored carpet of saxifraga and oppositifolia. Traces were found in stony débris which proved that there were formerly in those regions flowers which now only grow in warm climates like Australia.

Ball of Building Department Employees The Associated Employees of the Building Bureaus, comprising the Building Department employees of the five boroughs of the city are to hold their second annual ball at the Lexington Opera House on Monday evening, Dec. 21. The ball will be preceded by a vaudeville entertainment in which professionals will take part, and there will be a reception to which the city officials have been invited.

"A COMMON COLD." "The history, literature and therapeutics of the condition known as a 'Cold' shows conclusively that very little has been known n regard to this state. "Who has not witnessed the many failures of a 'good sweating,' a dose of 'castor oil.' etc.? The fact is, we have been over looking the true origin of the diseased state known as a 'Cold.' It is primarily a disease of the stomach, a derangement of the processes of gastric digestion."—Medical Times.

The use of Dr. Humphreys' "Seventyseven" breaks up the Cold, and if alternated with or followed by the use of Specific No.10 the stomach will perform its functions, and the gastric derangement caused by taking cold will be corrected. In small bottles of pellets that fit the vest pocket. At Druggists, 25 cents each. Medical Guide mailed free. Humphreys' Med. Co., Cor. William & John Streets, New York.
